 16 CHANNEL NVR ON BACK ORDER UNTIL SEPT 8TH - QUOTED HERE IS OUR 32 CHANNEL NVR (WITH 16 BUILT IN POE PORTS) PRICED SAME AS 16 CH NVR:
 This recorder can accommodate 1- 32 cameras, and is guaranteed true 1080p resolution @ 30 frames per second across all channels (4MP@ 25 FPS, 4K @ 15-30 FPS). *Cameras 1-16 can connect directly to the NVR's built in 16 PoE ports. These will be subnetted and not use any nEtwork bandwidth to stream locally. **Cameras 17-32 will require a separate PoE switch(es) on the same network. Cameras NOT homeun to the NVR but on a separate switch will use network bandwidth/resources (2-5Mbps per camera depending upon model). Once networked to a port forwarding capable internet router with sufficient upload bandwidth, my tech team can help you setup remote viewing via smart phone, tablet, mac or pc, IE internet browser. Can be used with any HDMI or VGA enabled monitor. 4K output. HDDs can be reconfigured for more or less TB space. 1 click firmware update. **Cameras connected to the ingerated 16 PoE ports can utilize the extended transmission length feature for up to 750' cable runs.

 PD1 QUOTE
 Hi Bryan , Nice chatting with you today. Here is the quote for the surveillance system I recommended for you. This system will hold 40+ days recording time at 24hrs per day, and 4-8X more if you set up the motion detection feature. Again, simple set-up, free tech support for life of product, and also a 3 year warranty. Below you'll see brief descriptions and links to all the products for you to review specs, features, and ratings. Feel free to contact me with any questions or changes.
 Regards,
